

Get
your writing
vibe

Marc Smith

IS

the founding father
of slam poetry.

And he will be performing at Tongue & Ink.

Tongue
and Ink
Feb. 25
and 26

Laura van den Berg's book

was a selection for the

Barnes & Noble
"Great New Writers"
Program.

She will be reading
an excerpt at Tongue & Ink.

Tongue
and Ink Feb. 25
and 26

Seth Abramson

is not just an amazing poet.

He knows more about MFA programs than anyone on the planet.

Not kidding.

He'll be at Tongue & Ink.

Tongue
and ink Feb. 25
and 26

○ Dear Writer,

We know you love writing.
And writing is a private thing.
But we also know you do like
some people time.

○ Admit it: even if you love
sitting in your room, all by yourself, writing away to your heart's content, you
at least like to know, every once in a while, that you're not the last person on earth.

And what better way to reaffirm this than to come to Tongue & Ink?

Even better, you'll know
then that you're not the last writer on the planet either.

Time to come out of the woodwork.

○ See you there!,
Tribes

○ Dear English Major,
Ever wonder where the other English majors are?

Ever feel like you hardly know any people who study what you do?

Well, feel alone no more!

○ Tongue & Ink is a weekend of awesome
events for writers.

An event other English majors will be at!

So come join the fun and
be part of the writing
community!

○ See you there!,
Tribes

○ Dear IWU Student,

Reasons YOU should come to Tongue & Ink:

you love creative writing

you want to meet well-known, awesome writers (Seth Abramson, Laura van den Berg, Marc Smith, etc.)

○ you want to learn more about different types of
writing

you want to watch and/or participate in a poetry slam

you are writing-career-minded

you want to have an awesome weekend

○ See you there!

Tribs